From the Covid Task Force - As the number of COVID cases in the area have decreased, the task force is ready to relax our current Covid precautions at Alexanderwohl. New cases per week in area counties are down to levels of last August, though there are still recent cases in the Goessel area and Alexanderwohl.

Masks are still recommended and encouraged, but not required. For those who desire to continue wearing masks when others do not, KN95 masks are available in the lobbies. They are considered to offer more protection against the Omicron variant. KN95 masks can be worn several times, so you are encouraged to save them and reuse them. To help guide your decision about when to wear a mask, consider crowding, ventilation, vaccination rates, and new case levels in your “community”.

We encourage gatherings in small groups (Sunday school, midweek, or meetings) to defer to whomever desires a greater level of precaution.

Adult choir has resumed and will wear masks while singing.
